THE MARLOW PLAYERS

A Murder Mystery Evening

Murder in an Ice Cold Manner

The play (presented in the form of a radio play) takes place in the winter of 1947. Sir Brian Burrows, owner of Stocksley Manor, is a self-made millionaire married to Lady Sylvia, formerly a famous actress. Lord Guy Stocksley fell on hard times and had to sell the family home, but still rents a worker's cottage on the estate. Sir Brian enjoys flaunting his wealth and his success in business. Each character we meet has a reason to detest him - and he meets his end in a violent fashion. But who did the deed? The audience will enjoy the drama of the murder mystery and the chance to guess the identity of the murderer or murderers. All will be revealed after an interval for the Fish supper and a murder-related quiz!
